FUNCTION

PIDF would:

- 1) serve as a dynamic regional partnership platform where leaders and representatives of Pacific small island developing countries and territories take ownership of their decisions and actions to address their special development needs;
- 2) provide for an inclusive regional multi-stakeholder forum for leaders of governments, private sector and civil society; and

3) serve as the Pacific regional counterpart for the south-south groupings and other regional and international arrangements that focus exclusively on the sustainable development of small islands developing countries and territories.
